

OH WHAT A NIGHT!
A MUSICAL TRIBUTE TO FRANKIE VALLI & THE FOUR SEASONS
EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

OH WHAT A NIGHT! is directed by award-winning producer/director Michael Chapman, written by George Solomon with choreography by Paul Holmquist and costumes by Sue Roncace.

MICHAEL CHAPMAN (Director) began performing professionally at the age of seven as a child prodigy from a musical family. Perhaps best known as the original producer/director of New York's longest running hit musical satire, Tony-Award™ winning FORBIDDEN BROADWAY, Michael continues today to be a dynamic influence in the entertainment industry.

Utilizing his extensive experience as a performer/producer/director together with being an accomplished pianist and musical arranger, Michael fields questions from the audience providing them with information as to how to audition and perform in musicals. He has created shows ranging from a musical-comedy re-enactment of a live radio presentation, which appeared at Carnegie Hall, to large-scale musicals and corporate events with casts of hundreds at New York's Lincoln Center.

In addition to performing and working in all aspects of creative theatrical production, including musical shows and headlining acts for some of the world's largest cruise lines, Michael further enjoys coaching privately and has been on the staff of UCLA conducting classes in performing and auditioning.
